

Recommendations for Praying With Fire

Jeff Doles has hit another home run with his book Praying With Fire. Jeff has an extreme passion for prayer, worship and healing. This book has become a very practical tool in my life as an intercessor. I use the different chapters to target Scriptural prayers from the heart of God for my family, church, and me. His explanations of the Scriptural passages cause them to come to life. I highly recommend this book as a weapon to open the windows of Heaven to bring the will of God to earth as it is in Heaven.

Praying With Fire looks at prayer from a refreshingly new perspective. With typical Jeff Doles clarity and simplicity, it both encourages and challenges its readers to discover the awesome power of praying the way God taught us to pray through the many examples in Scripture. This is a great book to keep handy as a reference and a wonderful aid to praying powerful, effective prayers that are always in the perfect will of God.

Examining the prayers of the first Christians is a great start in helping us recover the meaning and reality of authentic prayer. Jeff Doles has written a useful book which collects and organizes all of the prayers found in the New Testament. Praying with Fire is a great resource for one's own study of how the early Christians prayed.

Of all the Christian books out there on prayer, Praying with Fire is the most deeply rooted in scripture I have found, and thus more helpful than anything I have read. I look forward to putting the book into practice and recommending it to my staff and friends.
